Momolu: The Party Planners

Maria Trolle The White Deer

Myra's little brother Kotte has disappeared without a trace. When Myra looks for him in the top of a tree, she can not stop thinking about grandmother, who also disappeared without a trace. Mysterious grandmother who played magical music with her flute.

The loss of her little brother and grandmother eventually becomes too strong and Myra feels that she must do something. She will put everything right. Because if there is anyone who can find Kotte and solve the mystery behind Grandma's disappearance, it's her.

But first she must go further than anyone else in the village has done before, into the forest and out on an adventure full of surprising encounters and mysterious clues.

The White Deer is a story for 3-6-year-olds about believing in yourself and discovering new sides of yourself.

Maria Trolle's unique and beautiful imagery shows that the end of a story can mean the beginning of a new adventure.

Ages: 3-6 | Size: 216 x 256 mm | 40 pages | Colors: 4/4 | Rights Sold: Swedish | Original language: Swedish

The Impossibly Big Tree

A story about Infinity

When the Queen sends the members of the Mind Hive off on an expedition, they include among them Itty-Bitty, the littlest one of all. Together with Erm the Inchworm she will meet wonders that send her head spinning. Some of them are even a little scary.

The Impossibly Big Tree weaves together mathematical and philosophical ponderings on infinity into a hilarious adventure.

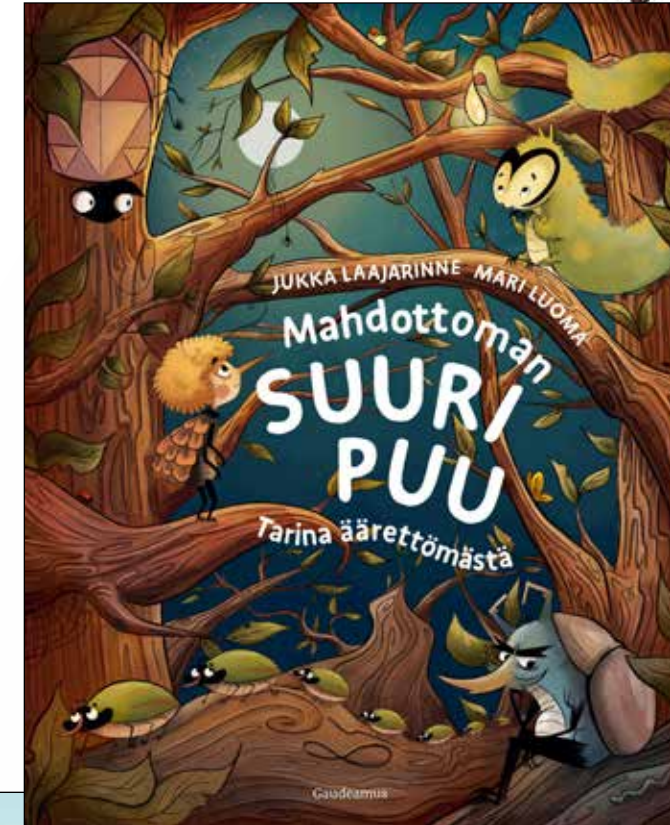

Devised in collaboration with experts from the Science Education Centre of the University of Helsinki, the children's nonfiction series encourages readers to think creatively and independently. Aimed at six- to nine-year-olds, the beautifully illustrated books also offer food for thought for older readers.

Ages: 3+ | Size: 216 x 269 mm | 48 pages | Colors: 4/4 | Original language: Finnish

The Quest for the Lost Worm

A story about biodiversity

Itty-Bitty and Erm try to find their lost friend whose existence is vital for the forest. During their journey the reader will not only learn about biodiversity and the importance of it, but also little interesting facts of the bigger and smaller things in the nature that we often take for granted. The beautifully illustrated work explains why biodiversity is vital.

Jukka Laajarinne is a freelance author who has previously worked as a mathematics and philosophy teacher. He has been twice nominated for the Finlandia Junior Prize.

Mari Luoma is an illustrator and comic artist. She mainly illustrates children's books and advertising materials for her work and designs funny characters for various media.

MOMOLU

WHEN MOMOLU THE PANDA AND HIS FRIENDS HAVE PROBLEMS ON THEIR HOME ISLAND, THEY GET CREATIVE AND FIND SOLUTIONS THROUGH ARTS, CRAFTS, AND DESIGN!

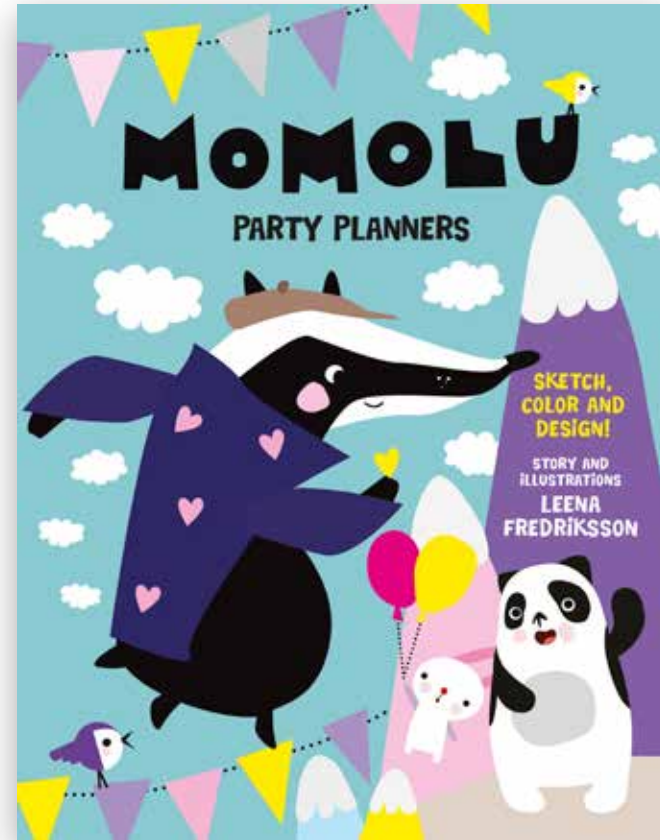

Momolu lives with his friends on an archipelago, where they sometimes run into problems as they go about their days. But when they work together, there's always a creative solution! Whether they are helping Bani the Rabbit redecorate the harbor or planning the island's annual harvest party, there's so much for the animals to discover about design while having a ton of fun along the way.

Our publishing list includes books for two age groups, including cute board books for early readers and picture books that tickle the imagination of the preschool audience.

A delicious book about every kid's favorite topic!

Vuokko Hurme and Anni Nykänen Candy Book

The best way to enjoy candy must be with this funny and thoroughly sweet nonfiction book that includes fascinating bits of knowledge, tests, recipes, and games! Candy Book has all the info you'll ever need about different kinds of sweets in the world and why humans enjoy eating them so very much.

Delightful and delicious, Candy Book is all about sweets, their history, and the famous people who've loved to eat them. It also explains why it's difficult to stop eating candy once you start, and gives helpful tools for parents of children with sweet teeth. What is candy made of, actually, and why does it taste SO good? Candy Book gives young readers all the answers they've always wanted, and it's the perfect nonfiction book for young children and early readers.

Candy Book is a book kids will enjoy as it talks about a topic they're extremely passionate about. It's the first collaboration between writer Vuokko Hurme and the fresh, fun illustration style of artist Anni Nykänen.

Animals All Over the Place

Fun facts and great stories from the animal kingdom

Did you know animals have been spies, astronauts and won medals for bravery? Animals All Over the Place is not your usual animal book: It has all the most fascinating facts but also stories about famous animals told as mini comics, fun tests and hilarious artwork!

Why exactly is it that some animals are teeny tiny and some so huge? And which were tamed first, cats or dogs? This adorable and funny book has all the answers! It also tells you about the great entertainers of the animal world, and animals that have a fascinating life story: Who were Esther the baby pig, Ming the clam named after the Chinese dynasty, or the painter bear called Juuso? This wild and furry book reads like Guinness World Records of fauna as well as an outrageously funny animal encyclopaedia. Animals All Over the Place is every young animal lover's dream!

Animals All Over the Place is the second kids' nonfiction book by the creators Vuokko Hurme and Anni Nykänen whose delightful previous work Candy Book has been a hit among all sweet lovers!
